

American Nuclear Society ANS 2014 Student Conference

April 3-6

The Pennsylvania State University

University Park, PA 16802

Call for Papers

Information

We invite students to submit their work that are of interest to the nuclear community. The papers should be 1-3 pages in length and may be selected for a poster or podium presentation. Papers will be accepted online starting in November, and must be in PDF format. Papers will be accepted on a rolling basis. Only papers submitted before Feb. 1 will be considered for best paper award. A paper may be considered for poster presentation if it is not selected for a podium presentation.

Technical Tracks

Acceleration Applications
Aerospace Nuclear Science and Technology
Biology and Medicine
Decommissioning, Decontamination, and Reutilization
Detection and Measurements
Education, Training and Workforce Development
Environmental Sciences
Fuel Cycle and Waste Management
Fusion Energy
Human Factors, Instrumentation, and Controls
Isotopes and Radiation
Materials Science and Technology
Mathematics and Computation
Nuclear Criticality Safety
Nuclear Installations Safety
Nuclear Nonproliferation
Nuclear Policy
Operations and Power
Radiation Protection and Shielding
Radiochemistry
Reactor Physics
Robotics and Remote Systems
Thermal Hydraulics

Submission Deadline

February 1, 2014

Notification of Acceptance

February 15, 2014

Contact

tech.psu.ans@psu.edu

Conference Chairs

Karen Bobkowski
Catherine Perego
Matthew Wargon

Technical Program Lead

Daniel Abercrombie

Website and More Information

meetings.ans.org/student2014